Tomlin Developments Ltd. Self-employed freelance writer/designer/professional house sitter.

Tomlin Developments Ltd is my own company which I set up after a welcome change in personal circumstances in 2001, which gave rise to an opportunity to 'downshift'. I have built up a variety of clients for whom I undertake PR, B2B and B2C copy writing. I also undertake website design, search engine optimisation and photographic services across the UK. As well as commercial copy writing I have a record of written and photographic publication in various national publications including The Guardian newspaper (see below). My principal business website is:

<http://www.bigfrogsmallpond.co.uk>

I retain a variety of clients in the UK for whom I undertake:

- Copy writing and technical authoring.
- Website Design.
- Photographic services.

Typical examples of my B2B and B2C copy writing are here on these lead-generation website live campaigns. I wrote around 90% of all the campaigns on the page linked below:

http://www.numedialeads.com/example\_campaigns.php

During 2002 my partner and I purchased and renovated a near-derelict Victorian house in Burton On Trent. Since realising that we made an excellent team as gardeners, painters, decorators and general handy people; we made our skills available initially to friends and relatives. Later, through Tomlin Developments, we started charging for our services, dependent upon the assignment requirements. Our reputation has since grown, by word of mouth, and also via our self-designed website:

<http://www.housem8.com>

We have acted as reliable guardians for large houses, wineries and closed-for-winter hotels in the UK, France, Spain and Australia. We have cared for dogs, large multiples of cats and flocks of poultry. As a house-sitter, often in unfamiliar situations and locations, one must have the ability to 'think on one's feet' in the case of emergencies or difficulties. The itinerant nature of house-sitting allows me to use my compendium of skills; as information technology usually allows me to work from any location in the world.

In September 2005, we let our house to tenants and undertook a world tour. During this time we rode from New York to San Francisco on a Harley Davidson motorcycle, then flew to Brisbane via New Zealand. From Brisbane we drove a camper-van to Perth on the west coast, picking up a house-sitting assignment on the way. We are currently available as house sitters throughout 2009 / 2010

August 2000-August 2002. Lastolite Limited. Product / Marketing Manager.

Lastolite are a medium-sized manufacturing company in Leicestershire making lighting control accessories, reflectors and backgrounds for the photographic industry. As product manager I undertook the following roles:

- Writing press releases and trade advertisements as well as designing mail shots and flyers.
- Demonstrating all our products at international trade fairs. This involved extensive international travel.
- Performing live 'Photoshop' demonstrations to groups of delegates at trade fairs.
- Performing in-house photography, digital capture and scanning for brochures and press-releases.
- Directing photographic shoots and writing copy for company literature.
- Building stands and organising all aspects of the company's attendance at worldwide trade shows.

Reason for leaving Lastolite: Change in personal circumstances enabled me to work for myself.

June 1992-August 2000: University of Derby. Photography tutor / technician.

Initially, my role involved supporting the B.A. Hons photography department as a lab technician. I undertook all the day-to-day tasks such as:

- Supervising students in the studio.
- Equipment maintenance & basic repairs.
- Ran equipment store loans and booking system.
- Ordering consumables and liaising with Senior Technician over budget issues.

From 1996 I started teaching more and more part-time hours over and above my technicians role.

P/T Teaching lecturing assignments include:

- 1996-1998: BA Hons Fine Art (Photography) module. Derby University.
- 1997-1998: BA Hons Photography. Nottingham Trent University.
- 2002-2003: City and Guilds Basic Photography. Tamworth and Lichfield college.

Reason for leaving University of Derby:

I decided to opt for a spell in industry and improve my IT and digital photography skills.

1988-1992: Mayday Personnel Ltd. Sales/Operations Manager.

Having registered with this temp agency as a driver, after around two years I became a contracts controller in the office, reaching the position of Area Sales Manager (two branches) within a further two years. I reported directly to the MD and had sole responsibility for a team of eight staff. Having an annual office turnover in the region of £1m I was responsible for the day-to-day running of operations and oversaw the creation and service of new accounts. During 1992 I was also involved on a consultancy basis with the setting up of the Southern Derbyshire Training & Enterprise Council. It was my role to assist with the auditing and appointment of approved training providers.

Reason for leaving Mayday: Company collapsed financially (not on my watch!).

1987-1988: Studio Colophon Ltd. Photographic Printer.

Hand-printing colour negatives in a busy pro-lab in Leicestershire.

Reason for leaving Colophon: Pay and conditions.

1985-1987

Cruise ship Picture Company.

Cruise ship Photographer.

Working hard and playing harder under the Caribbean sun.

August 2002 - Date. Tomlin Developments Ltd. Professional International house-sitter.

Having seen a welcome change in personal circumstances; my children having grown-up and moved from the family home and having divorced from my ex-husband, my present partner and I decided to lead a life less ordinary.

During 2002 my partner and I purchased and renovated a near-derelict Victorian house in Burton On Trent. Since realising that we made an excellent team as gardeners, painters, decorators and general handy people; we made our skills available initially to friends and relatives. Later, through Tomlin Developments, our own company, we started charging for our services, dependent upon the assignment requirements. Our reputation has since grown, by word of mouth, and via our website:

(www.housem8.com).

We have acted as reliable guardians for houses in the UK, France, Spain and Australia. We have cared for dogs, cats and poultry. I have cleared gardens and redecorated entire apartments. Our duties range from basic house-sitting to re-fitting bathrooms. As a house-sitter, often in unfamiliar situations and locations, one must have the ability to 'think on one's feet' in the case of emergencies or difficulties.

In September 2005, we let our house to tenants and undertook a world tour. August 2001-October 2003. Tesco PLC Checkout Operative / Customer Service Desk.

I would often run the checkout supervisory desk on busy Friday evening and Saturday shifts in Tesco at Burton Upon Trent. I was a popular and approachable team member.

1991-2001: Various Positions P/T Shop assistant & Full-time Homemaker.

Providing a home for two children whilst my husband worked away for long periods, I had a series of part-time retail assistant jobs when time permitted. It was during this time that I realised just how competent and confident I had become as a person. As well as providing useful extra income for the household, I managed to maintain the home, undertaking both small and more ambitious DIY jobs, as well as keeping the garden neat and tidy. I arranged all the family holidays as my husband worked away and was always too busy. I ran all the domestic accounts, saw to the children's education, helped with homework and generally helped keep the life of two (sometimes three) other people running smoothly!

1986-1991: Superdrug PLC P/T Assistant Manager

Part-time running of a busy High Street Superdrug outlet in Leicestershire. I undertook part-time hours as my children approached school-age.

1982-1986: Q & A (Mail Order) Ltd Team Supervisor.

Started as mail-room assistant, but soon became team leader of four staff, packing and processing orders for despatch around the UK.

1980- 1982: KP Foods Ltd. Production Team Member.

Production operative on a busy production line.

1976-1980: Measham Printers Ltd. Production Team Member.

Working in a busy service environment, keeping to tight schedules and ensuring quality control in a commercial four-colour litho industrial printing shop.

Other skills:

- Current clean driving licence.
- Good understanding, and no fear or dislike of, information technology. I am competent in basic word processing and data-input. I am a regular user of the internet, sending and receiving e-mail etc.
- Patient and accurate interior and exterior painter, paper-hanger and talented amateur carpet fitter (inexpensive floor coverings only!)
- Reared two children into healthy, happy, non-judgemental citizens; who are currently free of any criminal record!

Interests:

Aside from the interesting lifestyle outlined above; I have found the time to enjoy reading books again, as well as drawing in charcoal, following current affairs and, above all, cooking. I enjoy cooking French and Italian style dishes along with drinking good wines to complement these. I try to ensure that I don't allow this to affect my fitness by regularly hill walking and cycling 10 miles most days.
